- 2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)
  - 1. Reference is made to the following document:

D1: DE-A-4006935

2. Document D1 is considered the prior art closest to the subject matter of claim 1 and discloses a device for mixing, drying and coating powdered, granular or moulded bulk material in a fluidised bed, having all the structural features from claim 1 (see claims 1-5 and figure 1).

The subject matter of claim 1 differs from the known device in that the outer wall of the central tube is at least partly provided with a non-stick coating. The subject matter of claim 1 is thus novel (PCT Article 33(2)).

3. The current invention can be considered to address the problem of extending the dwell time of the materials being treated.

The prior art does not disclose that it is sufficient to provide part of the central tube with a non-stick coating in order to extend the dwell time of the materials but without deposits accumulating on the central tube. Owing to the extended dwell times, more uniform products can be produced. Such an effect is not described in the prior art and therefore the subject matter of claim 1 is considered inventive (PCT Article 33(3)).

4. Dependent claims 2-12 contain additional features relating to the subject matter of claim 1 and are also considered novel and inventive.
